GRACE CHURCH HAS NEW THIRD DAY OF JEWISH MEMORIAL ART WORKS DRIVE BRINGS $65,000

Windows and Doors Provided by Gifts From Friends.

Extensive improvements in the beautiful Gothic interior of Grace Church, which has stood at Broadway and Tenth street for eighty years, have just been completed and revealed by the removal of scaffolding which for months had hidden the north and south walls.

With funds left by the late Miss Mary R. Callender, who died in 1919, a new window with extensive stone work has been placed in the south wall, while, through the generosity of Mr. Walter Phelps Bliss, the inside of the doorway of the north transept has been rebuilt from floor to roof. In each the new work is in accordance with the old stone carvings.

As a memorial to his parents Mr. and Mrs. George Bliss and the Misses Catherine Anita and Nettie Bolton Bliss, his sisters, Mr. Walter Phelps Bliss had the inside of the doorway of the north transept rebuilt from floor to roof. In each the new work is in accordance with the old stone carvings.

The exhibition of Mrs. Enrico Caruso's liana, which are being embroidered by the crippled girls of the Crippled Children's East Side Free School, drew hundreds of women yesterday. Some of these liana will remain on show to-day. The club attractions to-day will be a fashion show with amateur models in the afternoon and a new garment sale in the evening. No admission is charged.

The largest individual contributor reported yesterday was Walter E. Frew, who contributed $1,000.

Receipts from the sale of Americana, from the library of the late George H. Hart, being sold at the Anderson Galleries, reached a total of $9,522 yesterday. The sale closed at 4:30 p. m.
